DYNASTY STARTUP · SUPERFLEX, 1QB, AND IDP

THE DYNASTY OWL STARTUP CHEAT SHEET

Everything the site knows, on four pages: the plan, a 72-player startup board, positional ranks, what rookie picks are worth, the 2027 class, IDP and K/DST, and which Dynasty Owl tool to open when.

1 PICK A PLAN BEFORE PICK 1

Decide whether you're building to win now or win later, then draft toward it. Mixing both usually leaves you stuck in the middle: not good enough to win, not young enough to wait. Not sure? Take the team quiz at dynastyowl.com/quiz.

WIN NOW

Proven starters at every spot, two strong QBs, productive veterans others pass on. Trade future picks for points.

WIN LATER

Young QBs and WRs with long careers, extra rookie picks, and players a year or two from breaking out.

BALANCED

Young elite talent early, then value wherever it falls. Pick a lane after season one.

2 KNOW YOUR FORMAT

- Superflex: starting QBs are the scarcest asset. Leave the early rounds with two, and grab a third late; bye weeks and injuries come for everyone.
- 1QB: QBs fall hard. Only the elite few go early; most starters are mid-round values (see the 1QB column on page 2).
- TE premium: the top two or three TEs play like elite WRs. Move them up a round.
- IDP: with one IDP slot, defenders are late-round fliers; in full IDP leagues the best LBs and edge rushers go around rounds 7–9 (page 4).
- K / DST: draft them last, then stream weekly. Production this season is all that matters.

3 AGE CURVES AT A GLANCE

RB	Shortest shelf life. Value starts sliding around 26–27.
WR	Longer careers. Most produce into their late 20s; decline usually starts around 29–30.
TE	Slow to develop (year 2–3 breakouts), then steady into the late 20s.
QB	Longest careers. Good starters last into their mid 30s.
LB	IDP peaks end around 28 (LB, DB) and 29 (DL). Kickers last into their late 30s.

Ages on this sheet are exact to one decimal: 28.9 is closer to 29 than to 28, and the market knows it.

4 ROOKIE PICK TIMING

- Pick values usually rise as the NFL Draft approaches and drop once picks become players.
- Buying picks? Do it during the season, when contenders want help now.
- Selling picks? Do it in the spring, when rookie hype peaks.
- Know how your league orders its draft (record, max PF, toilet bowl). It changes what a future pick is worth: set it on the Rookie Draft page.

5 SIX STARTUP MISTAKES

1. Drafting like redraft: chasing last season's top scorers instead of the next three seasons.
2. Ignoring settings: superflex, TE premium, and IDP slots change values a lot.
3. Overpaying aging RBs: great this year, hard to trade next year.
4. Leaving with one QB in superflex: you'll pay a premium all season to fix it.
5. Drafting a kicker or defense early: streamers score nearly as much.
6. Panic trading: one bad week doesn't change a player's dynasty value.

THE 72-PLAYER STARTUP BOARD

The first six rounds of a 12-team superflex startup, in Owlgorithm order (overall team window, half PPR). The 1QB column is the same player's rank in 1QB leagues: red falls 15+ spots, green climbs 8+.

SUPERFLEX RULE OF THUMB

If you don't have two starting QBs by the end of round 4, take the best one left in round 5.

TIERS, NOT RANKS

A few spots apart is a coin flip. Take the player who fits your plan from page 1.

WHAT A ROOKIE PICK IS WORTH

Each pick's value matched to the superflex player rank it equals today, with that player as an example. Early = picks 1-4, Mid = 5-8, Late = 9-12. 2027 slots are worth the rookie-board prospect projected there.

	2027 EARLY	2027 MID	2027 LATE	2028 MID
1ST	≈ #10 Kenneth Walker III	≈ #29 Zay Flowers	≈ #57 Denzel Boston	≈ #64 Rashee Rice
2ND	≈ #83 Kenyon Sadiq	≈ #121 Ja'Kobi Lane	≈ #152 Dalton Schultz	≈ #123 Antonio Williams
3RD	≈ #169 Pat Bryant	≈ #199 Keaton Mitchell	≈ #222 Theo Johnson	≈ #218 MarShawn Lloyd
4TH	≈ #226 Elijah Sarratt	≈ #236 Tez Johnson	≈ #238 Jauan Jennings	≈ #302 LeQuint Allen

2027 ROOKIE CLASS: THE TOP 10

Superflex order from the Rookie Draft big board: the top QBs hold their spot, deeper ones slide (all QBs slide in 1QB). Prospect grades blend NFL Draft Buzz scouting, the Owl's tier list and college production. The 2028 devy board is on the Rookies page.

1	WR	Jeremiah Smith	Ohio State
2	QB	Darian Mensah	Miami
3	RB	Jadan Baugh	Florida
4	WR	Cam Coleman	Texas
5	WR	Nick Marsh	Indiana
6	WR	Charlie Becker	Indiana

K AND D/ST: STREAM THEM

Values are about 90% this season's production, so take one in the last round and stream from there (weekly rankings on Start/Sit, streamers on Waiver Wire). Top kickers: Spencer Shrader, Will Reichard, Ka'imi Fairbairn, Jason Myers, Tyler Bass. Top defenses: Minnesota Vikings, Denver Broncos, Seattle Seahawks, Cleveland Browns, Green Bay Packers.
